GROWTH OF U.S. BANKS UNMATCHED BY HISTORY

"Development Never Paralleled," Reports
John Skelton Williams in His Report

LAWS TO PREVENT FAILURES, URGED

Comptroller of Currency
Sees Need for More
Stringent Regulation
and Wider Expansion

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—"Development and growth never paralleled in the history of any country," is the way John Skelton Williams, Comptroller of the Currency, describes in his annual report to Congress the operation of the national banks under his charge, from October, 1914, to November, 1915, the first year under the Federal Reserve System.
The report was presented today to Congress.

Williams gives a comparative statement of the condition of the national banks.
He shows net resources increased in the year $1,715,878,648, deposits increased $2, 081,530,161 and loans and discounts increased $917,150,302. Available cash increased $562,000,000 and on November 10, 1915, the reporting national banks had excess reserves of $891,000,000. Tables show the condition of banks in 1915 resulting from the operation of the Federal Reserve act, and in 1914, 1913, 1912, 1911,

Wood Alcohol Sold for Drink

SEATTLE, Jan. 10.—The police are looking for peddlers of wood alcohol.
An unidentified man with the initials
R. P. inside his coat died of an infectious hospital last night after being taken violently ill in a lodging house.
An empty half-pint bottle that had contained wood alcohol was found beside him. Another half pint bottle, untouched, was found on him.
The man said he had bought the bottle from a person on the street.
A woman who fell unconscious in a store last night was conveyed to the city hospital and treated for wood alcohol poisoning. She was in a dangerous condition but will recover.
Since January 1 nine deaths from various forms of alcoholism have come under the notice of the police.
The body of Harry Shaw was found in a South End hotel yesterday.
He had died from wood alcohol poisoning, physicians said. There is no law against the sale of wood alcohol with poison label on it. Druggists say that bootleggers probably removed the label from the wood alcohol and sell it for grain alcohol.

PROGRESSIVES WILL HAVE CANDIDATE

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Members of the Progressional national committee arrived here today for the committee meeting set for tomorrow when the time and the place of the Progressive national convention is to be determined.
George W. Perkins, one of the early arrivals, said:
"There is a serious question as to whether a Progressive national convention and a national ticket will be nominated."
Col. Cecil Lyon, Progressive, national committeeman from Texas, gave his opinion of the coming campaign in these words:
"If the Republicans do not nominate Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson will be re-elected President of the United States."

FRAUD WON HER DIVORCE, SAYS WOMAN

Apartment Manager in a Queer Marital Tangle

Seeks Annulment of His Second Wedding in Court

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—Admitting that her divorce from her first husband was fraudulently obtained, Mrs. Josephine Hall, manager of the fashionable Marlborough Hall of the innumerable matrimonial trials in the city. Apartments, today occupied by the unique position of being the legal wife of one man, at the same time she was defending herself from a divorce suit brought by another. It was one of the queerest cases ever brought before a San Francisco court.

Declaring that she had not gained a legal divorce from her first husband, James Lotridge, a wealthy Neva-da mping man, and filed by his testimony, she obtained an annulment decree, while her second husband, James D. Hall, who claims a share in her apartments, is suing for divorce. Should he gain his divorce, she says, he will claim his share in the property. Her annulment decree, granted by Judge Van Nostrand, is to be introduced as a cross complaint against Hall's suit.

Mrs. Hall was the wife of Lotridge and was divorced from him in Reno in 1908. Coming to San Francisco, Hall filed suit, asking a divorce and claiming a share in her property. She, in the meantime, met Lotridge, induced him to act as a witness for her, and testified to a divorce obtained by fraud, declaring her second marriage null and void. This her attorneys contend, throw Hall's suit out of court and prevent her claiming any portion of her property.

The case will come up for hearing again this week.

AMOUNT OF JEWEL THEFT PUZZLES

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—Jewelry worth of which is placed between $500 and $25,000 have been stolen from a trunk belonging to Lieutenant Commander William Cronan, U. S. N., while enroute from Overbrook, Pa., to this city. Detectives of the Adams and Wells Fargo Express companies both of which handled the trunk have been investigating the matter since the latter part of November, but the details were made public for the First time late last night. Chief of Detectives Seymour of Wells Fargo and Company stated that the value placed on the missing jewels by the shipper was $300. The Chicago Police Department, however, which requested the investigation, gives out the information that the missing gems are worth $25,000. These figures Seymour said today are grossly exaggerated. The Adams Express carried the trunk to Denver where it was turned over to Wells Fargo. The seals were still intact when it reached here and there were no signs of it having been tampered with. Where along the route the alleged theft was committed, is a mystery.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hutchinson entertained Friday night at their home, 2020 Tenth avenue, as a benefit to the Eighth Avenue M. E. church, the affair being an informal musicale, at which the Pacific Ladies' Quartet was heard, together with Ira N. Allen, the dramatic reader. About 100 guests listened to the program.

The quartet sang several classical numbers, a program of the old home songs and other interesting musical bits. The members are Katherine Gull Morrish, Eva Gruninger Atkinson, Rowena Robb Mill and Emma Mesow Fitch. The accompanist was Mabel Hill Redfield.

PRE-WAR BALANCE OF TRADE IS CUT

Figures Show the Tariff Law Results in Large Decrease.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The Republican Publicity Association, through its president, Hon. Jonathan Bourne Jr., today gave out the following statement at its Washington headquarters:

In his defense of the Democratic tariff law recently published in the Congressional Record, Chairman Kitchin of the House ways and means committee said:

"It will be conceded by all fair-minded men, Republicans and Democrats alike, that the just and proper way to judge and assess the value and virtue of the Underwood act is to consider the effect of its operation from its passage on October 3, 1913, to August 1, 1914, the time of the outbreak of the European war."

The period thus prescribed covers ten months and for purposes of comparison should be considered in connection with a similar period under Republican law. Mr. Kitchin was considering the Underwood act as a revenue measure. Since the ability of the American people to pay taxes depends largely upon their industrial prosperity and since import duties have been an instrumentality for the promotion of American industry, a considerable majority of our voters have always believed that a tariff law is more important from the view point of protection than from that of revenue. Therefore, it is highly desirable that we judge and assess the value and virtue of the Underwood act for the period designated by Mr. Kitchin from the standpoint of its effect upon American foreign trade.

During the ten months' period under Republican tariff law the balance of trade in our favor amounted to more than $600,000,000. During the corresponding ten months under the Democratic tariff law and before the war, the balance in our favor was cut to $245,000,000, a loss of $355,000,000, or $35,500,000 a month. That was a loss of a million dollars a day for every working day.

Not only did foreign producers begin to capture our markets, but the prospect of future inroads upon the legitimate trade of American producers caused cessation or diminution of industrial activity with results which are deeply impressed upon the memories of men and women who stood in the bread lines in all our important cities.

Congressional ITEMS

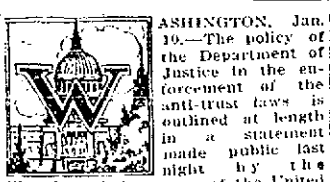

This week the Senate committee on military affairs will begin hearings on army reorganization, the House committee having begun last week.

The annual fight over the rivers and harbors bill was launched today when Representative Frear of Wisconsin spoke against the forthcoming measure, which will aggregate approximately $40,000,000.

Representative Hiffin of Alabama, who, some years ago, shot at a negro for drinking whisky in a Washington street car, will speak tomorrow, amplifying his charge of a conspiracy between speculators and spinners on the New York Cotton Exchange to beat down the price of cotton.

C. W. Wilson, electrical engineer for the Panama street railway, who recently returned from Panama, brings news of the condition of the Panama canal. Mr. Wilson predicts that the canal will be ready for business again on March 1. Work on the slide was progressing rapidly when he left the zone.

Attorney-General Outlines Federal Anti-Trust Policy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The policy of the Department of Justice in the enforcement of the anti-trust laws is outlined at length in a statement made public last night by the United States Chamber of Commerce of the United States, announcing the result of the several conferences between Attorney-General Gregory and a committee of the organization.

The outline, which was submitted to and approved by the Attorney-General, is prefaced by an explanation that the chamber has constantly been presented with inquiries regarding the relationship that might be established between the Federal Trade Commission and the department, and with requests for information as to the government's attitude in future anti-trust proceedings.

The attorney-general was told, the statement says, that an expression from him "might be regarded as reassuring to the public mind," and might "dispel some of the uncertainty which heretofore existed."

The statement in part follows: "By way of introduction, the attorney-general expressed the view that much of the misunderstanding that exists in some quarters in relation to the Sherman act is due to the fact that in the minds of many it has come to be thought of as a statute apart from the general body of laws. This, he pointed out, is not the case. On the contrary, the Sherman act is enforced by the Department of Justice in the same manner and according to the same rules of policy as other statutes—with the same care and with neither more or less rigor. Plain or intentional violations are proceeded against vigorously, as under other statutes."

"When, as with all statutes, doubt or cases arise in the law, they are dealt with just as similar cases under other statutes are dealt with—that is, with a view to enforcing strict compliance with the law, but without unnecessarily signifying or unecessarily burdening with litigation persons who have been honestly mistaken as to the law and who stand ready to rectify their mistake."

Four points were then taken up: "First—The complaint that the law is uncertain. "Second—The policy of the Department of Justice as regards the method of enforcing the law in admittedly doubtful cases. "Third—The means adopted by the department to guard against unjust prosecutions. "Fourth—The policy of the department in cases where it and the Federal Trade Commission are both charged with the enforcement of the law."

"Concerning the first point, the attorney-general stated that while conceding there is in the law of restraint of trade an area of doubt, in the vast majority of cases it is not difficult to tell whether a proposed transaction is or is not in violation of the statute. Such doubt as there is he further stated, will be greatly reduced by decisions in the shipping pool case, the anthracite coal cases, the harvester case, the steel case and the United Shoe Machinery case, which are now pending in the supreme court."

"As to its policy in cases where both the department and the Federal Trade Commission are charged with the enforcement of the law, as under the Clayton act, the attorney-general stated that the department would, in general, be guided by the principle which governs the federal and state courts in cases where they have concurrent jurisdiction. That is to say, in any such case, if the federal Trade Commission were the first to exercise jurisdiction, the Department of Justice would await the conclusion of the commission's proceedings before taking any action, unless special circumstances should dictate a different course."

WILSON CANNOT GO. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 10.—President Wilson, because of a previous engagement, will be unable to attend the Lincoln day banquet here, it was informed Governor Dunne today.

ROADS RESPONSIBLE. WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The same rules of liability of railroads for goods lost while being carried also determine the railroad's liability for warehousemen. The Supreme Court today held that the carrying and warehousing of goods were grouped by the Hepburn rate law as transportation and both are governed by the same principles.

BRITISH DRIVEN FROM GALLIOLI, TURKS SAY. AMSTERDAM, Jan. 10.—The British, as a result of a violent battle, have completely evacuated Seddul Bahr, with great losses, says a dispatch from Constantinople. Not a single man remained behind.

The dispatch adds that reports from the Dardanelles say the Turkish troops have completely driven the French and British from Seddul Bahr, and that Gallipoli peninsula "is now clear of the enemy."

LILLIAN RUSSELL TO BE LUNCHEON GUEST. Lillian Russell, famous musical star and Orpheum headliner, will be the guest of honor at the luncheon of the advertising bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, at the Hotel Oakland tomorrow afternoon.

Miss Russell will tell tales on the stage, and of famous stage stars she has known. W. W. Cribb, chairman of the advertising bureau of the chamber, will preside at the luncheon.

Label of Medicine Package Must Be Truth. WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The Sherman amendment of 1902 in the federal pure food law declaring drugs to be misbranded if the package or label bears or contains false and fraudulent statements regarding the curative or therapeutic effects thereof, was upheld as constitutional today by the Supreme Court.

CENSUS TO REPORT CANCER DEATHS

Federal Bureau to Compile Statistics to Aid Scientists.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The United States bureau of the census is soon to publish a special report on deaths from cancer in this country in 1914, a work which was undertaken at the suggestion of the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

"It should be made clear," the society said in a statement today, "that the census bureau has not undertaken special research work that will in any way duplicate the studies of existing institutions and laboratories which are investigating the cause of cancer. On the other hand, there should result a marked improvement of our national mortality statistics of this disease."

In February, 1914, the American Society for the Control of Cancer suggested to the federal authorities that the figures of deaths from cancer in the United States registration area be published in greater detail and that, instead of being reported only under seven headings, they be based under many more titles, according to the part of the body first affected, thus affording a greater opportunity for more exact comparative study.

"The suggestion received favorable consideration by the bureau of the census and a special report for 1914 was ordered begun by the former director, William J. Harris, and is now nearing completion by his successor, Samuel L. Rogers. This special monograph on cancer will consist of tables according to the site of the disease, age, sex, color, nativity and marital condition, for the registration area, the several registration states and the usual subdivisions. To gather the necessary detailed information the director of the census has sent over 25,000 letters of inquiry to physicians who certified deaths from cancer during 1914."

CONFERENCE TO SELECT SUCCESSOR TO LAMAR. WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—President Wilson will hold a formal consideration of the selection of a successor to Supreme Justice Lamar in a conference tonight with Attorney General Gregory. More than fifty names have been suggested.

SOUTHERNS OPPOSE CHILD LABOR BILL. WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Representatives of Southern cotton mills headed by former Governor Kitchin of North Carolina, before the House labor committee today, opposed the Keating-Owen bill, which prevents interstate shipment of goods manufactured with aid of child labor.

Mr. Kitchin said the bill was opposed as unconstitutional and unwise. "We of the South oppose this measure because we believe our people who have to work should be permitted to do so," he said. "I recall a dispatch from Boston on January 1, 1915, that 125 persons were being gleamed from the garbage piles. If the North cannot support its poor you should not expect South to do so. Nobody eats garbage in the South."

PLAN EXPOSITION. WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Formal recognition of the bi-centennial exposition of the city of San Antonio in 1918 to commemorate the founding of the city by Franciscan friars was proposed in a joint resolution introduced today in both houses of Congress.

WILSON MAY STUMP FOR DEFENSE PLAN. WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—President Wilson may put the question of national defense before the country in a series of speeches as one means of getting the necessary legislation through Congress. The President today received several invitations to speak at meetings here, in Baltimore and New York within the next month and other invitations are known to be coming. Officials intimated today that the President might take advantage of the invitations to lay the administration plan for national defense directly before the people. As soon as the submarine controversy is entirely cleared up the President intends to devote his whole attention to getting the national defense plans through Congress.

MOTHER SLAIN, GIRL WILL AID FATHER'S DEFENSE

AUBREY LAWRENCE, 16-YEAR-OLD GIRL, WHO IS SAVING MONEY WITH WHICH TO ENGAGE AN ATTORNEY TO DEFEND HER FATHER ON A CHARGE OF HAVING MURDERED HER MOTHER.

Aubrey Lawrence, 16 years of age, is trying to save sufficient money out of a meager income with which to engage an attorney to defend her father, Charles Clarke Lawrence, charged with the murder of his wife, her mother, Mrs. Orpha Lawrence, on December 15 last.

It is because of the girl's determination that when Lawrence appears before Superior Judge Ogden for arraignment tomorrow morning he will be represented by an attorney. He will plead not guilty on the murder charge and ask to be brought to trial. This is because his daughter insists upon it.

The girl, upon the discovery of that gruesome morning of less than a month ago, when she found that her father had killed her mother by hacking her head with a hatchet, turned against the parent. Lawrence had murdered his wife of eighteen years following many unsuccessful attempts to effect a reconciliation with her. "I was enraged with my father at first, of course," says the girl now. "But I soon saw his side of the case. I saw that he was not in his right mind when he did this. So I am working for him now and he will soon be a free man."

The girl, left alone in the world with an aged grandmother to care for, sought work. After weary days she secured a situation giving her a meager income. Incredible as it may seem, she is saving tiny amounts out of this to make up an attorney's fund. Her father, full of despair, announced at first that he would make no defense when arraigned in court on the murder charge. His daughter, however, has persuaded him to plead not guilty and make a fight for his life and his liberty.

"And we'll win, too," declares the girl. "You'll see. A lot of people will take the stand in his defense and it will be shown that he was crazed with grief and despair when he did this awful thing."

The girl and her grandmother are still living in the Fifth avenue house in which the tragedy occurred.

BATTERED CALLAO LIMPS INTO PORT

Ship Believed Lost Comes Through Gate, Tossed by Storms.

Limping through the Golden Gate, stripped of her canvas, leaking like a sieve, and reared by sailors in the bay as a veritable "ghost ship," the Callao, with seventeen aboard, and long since given up for lost, is safe in port. Captain Carlos Muller, with his wife and small daughter, and a crew composed of Jamaican negroes, Peruvians and Chileans, were in the terrible trip in which the old ship, riding before a hurricane, was tossed like a nutshell on the waves, threatened with destruction a dozen times, and reported as lost by the shipping agents.

The Callao, more than 10 years old and one of the first of the steel vessels, was built in Glasgow, and is under Peruvian registry. She was sailing from Callao, Peru, for Puget Sound, in ballast. Eleven days ago the boat was given up as lost by the owners, W. R. Grace & Co., the agents admitting that it was thought she had been wrecked. The Callao had called at San Francisco, and then, seized in the storm, the captain decided to sail before the wind.

The hurricane tore the sails from the masts, and the peril of the ship was such that it was among the certified wrecked sailors, who demanded the life boats and planned an attempt to escape. Captain Muller could not put the men in iron, being afraid to run the ship short handed. He then, the boat reached safety in the bay yesterday, the crew in a body, declaring that the ship was a dangerous one.

A Great Show at the Orpheum

Mayo and Tally and The Edison A Quartette of Voices

Mayo and Tally have made a number of Edison records, and at the Orpheum this week they sing at the same time the Edison reproduces one of their duets, making a perfect quartette.

Why They Chose an Edison

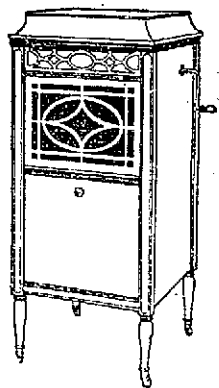

These artists were very careful in the phonograph they selected, as it was necessary that the reproductions contain the human quality unimpaired, and after thoroughly investigating all makes they unhesitatingly selected the Edison for its perfect reproduction.

Mayo and Tally can be heard at the Orpheum all this week, but you will always find their very popular Edison records and

The Edison at Breuner's

Incidentally, we may mention that our phonograph department is now managed by a representative of the Edison laboratories, who will be pleased to demonstrate the manner in which the limitations of the familiar makes of talking machines have been overcome by Mr. Edison in his new Diamond Disc Phonograph.

FACTORY WOMEN TO HAVE NURSERY

Child's Welfare League Hears of Progress on the Institution.

Members of the Child's Welfare League, meeting at the Hotel Oakland this afternoon, listened to a report on the progress which has been made in the matter of establishing a day nursery for the children of poor families living in the factory districts of Twenty-third avenue and the estuary, East Oakland.

The report was submitted by School Director Harry I. Boyle, who told the women that the plans for the nursery had been completed and that the institution would soon be opened. The children of mothers employed in the factories and mills of the East Oakland district, who have no manner of disposing of the little ones while they are at their work, will be cared for by the nursery. Nurses and play supervisors will be in charge.

The school department is co-operating with the Welfare League and other benevolent organizations of the city in providing the nursery, which the club women say, has long been needed in this particular district. It is probable that similar nurseries will be opened later in other manufacturing and industrial sections of the city, where the mothers of families have to neglect their children through necessity to work away from home.

The other speaker at today's meeting was Mrs. Alice Kelly, who had charge of the exhibit of the Philippines at the Exposition. Mrs. Kelly told of her work in the islands.

Workers in Sunday Schools to Elect

Officers will be elected and a general reorganization effected at the district convention of the Alameda District of Sunday-school Teachers to be held in the First Methodist Church in Alameda, tomorrow. Albert Lelaur, state president, will preside at the opening meeting, which will start at 2:30 o'clock, and will be assisted by B. R. Fisher, the general secretary.

The elementary workers' section will hold a meeting at 2 o'clock, presided over by Mrs. T. H. Hageman, 519 Madison road, Oakland, the State president of this department. Rev. J. B. Orr, pastor of the Myrtle Street Congregational Church and County Sunday-school Superintendent, will be one of the speakers.

Following a dinner to be served at the church, addresses will be made by three speakers. The first will be by J. W. Henderson, State superintendent of adult work, who will talk on "Adult Bible Class Work." Rev. Francis J. Van Horn, pastor of the Oakland First Congregational Church, and Lelaur will also give addresses.

Squires to Speak at Board Session

J. E. Squires, Pacific Coast superintendent of Sunday-schools for the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will be the principal speaker at the regular monthly board meeting of the officers and teachers of the Sunday-school department of the First Methodist Episcopal Church tomorrow evening. Squires will speak during the dinner to be held in the church parlors at 5:30 o'clock. This will be followed by a general business meeting.

SHE DARES FATHER TIME TO DO HIS BEST

LILLIAN RUSSELL RADIATES JOY

'OCCUPATION' IS SECRET OF HER YOUTHFULNESS

MISS ILLINGTON OFFERS 'THE LIE'

Famous New York Hit to Be
Feature at the Macdonough
This Week.

Margaret Illington, who has not been seen by Oakland theatergoers for fully two years, returns tonight with one of her most notable successes, when she will be seen at the Macdonough in "The Lie." One of the biggest dramatic hits of the season, and the most remarkable work that the pen of Henry Arthur Jones has ever produced.

Early last season Miss Illington produced the play at the Harris theater, New York City, and its success was immediate and complete. For fully a year the play ran in New York, and Chicago welcomed it with open arms. Since then the tours of Miss Illington with her remarkable play have been a series of triumphs.

"The Lie" is a play perfectly adapted to Miss Illington. In fact, the author deferred its production a year to permit her to play the leading role. With a New York cast, Miss Illington offers the production exactly as in its first successes. "The Lie" will run at the Macdonough for a week, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

HIPPODROME

The Hippodrome's new show for the first half of the week is a combination of vaudeville and feature pictures. Audiences that filled the theater to overflowing yesterday voted it one of the most pleasing bills of the season.

Although not announced at the headliners, Lovell and Lovell make the real hit of the show. The audience have as much to do with the success of their act as the performers themselves, for the turn consists of having the words of songs that were composed by the two men, and then thrown on the picture screen, the two people on the stage leading in the singing and inducing the audience to join in with them. The success of the act is wonderful, for the audience got a lot of fun out of singing those songs that many of them haven't heard for fifteen or twenty years.

The other vaudeville features include a remarkable animal act, exhibited by his trainer, "The Lion King," an English music hall girl who makes a big hit, especially with the male portion of the audience, with her songs and stories; the Four Maxims, novelty jugglers; Dorisford Lovell and Company in Walter Montague's dramatic sketch, "Should Doctors Kill," and Captain's trained seals.

With a splendid feature photo play and the usual quota of comedy films it makes a most entertaining bill.

Universalist Church of Oakland Founded

Oakland's first Universalist church has been organized, and officers of the new church are preparing for services to be held temporarily in Pythian Castle. Organization of the church was completed yesterday in a meeting at the Hotel Oakland. Rev. Edward C. Rogers, who came here from Buffalo, New York, will be the pastor of the new church.

The first church of the Universal Christ of Oakland will be built as soon as funds can be obtained for the structure. Next Sunday Dr. Rogers will preach at Pythian Castle on "The Rediscovery of the Gospel."

The new pastor is a Californian, who sixteen years ago went East for general missionary work throughout the United States.

BOY CONFESSES MURDER.

FULSBORO, N. M., Jan. 10.—News was received here yesterday that Albert Houchin, 17, had confessed to the police at Beaumont, Tex., that he killed R. H. Hammond and Madame Dolores, a palmer, near Los Palomas, N. M., November 27, 1915.

Orpheum's Star Heads New Bill Of Clever Acts

By THE MAN IN FRONT.

These "come-backs," done with chronic thoughtlessness by other stage stars, oftentimes are monotonous affairs. Age sins in the audience and mocks them. "I remember-her-when's" miss their hateful meaning across the footlights. Skill is an obsolete word in their lexicon. The key is lost to their box of tricks.

Not so Lillian Russell. Here she is, at the Oakland Orpheum, with years enough to throw a shadow into any lady's boudoir. And she shines at them not at all. Greets them merrily. Laughs at them. Throws cosmetics at them. Kicks them with a song. Rejoices that with a song.

She dares Father Time, twice a day, does Lillian Russell. In as many words. Matinee, Night. Probably she includes the old song in her prayers. Has him in her breakfast and sends him invitations to her birthday parties. Wishes him a Happy New Year with right good will.

DEAD IN LION'S MOUTH.

In fact, the spirit with which this fair lady puts her golden head into the lion's mouth should throw courage into many a feminine heart of fifty winters. What are the years when you don't count them?

Beauty is as Lillian Russell does. "Occupation," she insists is the force that sends Ponce de Leon's fountain playing high into the air. "Get busy," she says, "you won't see the years slip by—and they won't see you."

And there she stands, her beauty radiating, her good-nature spreading its warmth, her sunny gleams gilding her friendships. She sings a half score of vaudeville and tuncful ditties; gurgles good-will in two minutes of conversation and laughter; displays a gown that was responsible for the invention of "diamond erie." And her diamonds sparkle in time with the music.

IS HAPPY OCCASION.

Altogether this act of Lillian Russell is the happiest occasion the Orpheum has been responsible for in as many moons as her years.

Mayo and Tally, "one-half of the old famous Empire City quartette," also come back with a vengeance. And if one-half of the quartet is good, the other half is better. The quartette used to do may be counted as history. Mayo booms forth as melodious a lot of notes as ever escaped the throat of an orchestra. Tally has a genial and a useful part. Both of them boast a brimming fund of humor, an idea of originality and friendships galore. They go strong despite their cruel cuts on the Ford.

If the impression has ever been gained that Pauline Frederick's interpretations of the great villainesses in "Zaza," and "Hella Donna," the famous Players Film Company's productions in which she scored such great personal triumphs, represent her only type of seven characterization, it was dispelled yesterday at the Oakland Photo Theater. When "Lydia Gilmore" was presented on the screen for the first time in Oakland.

"Lydia Gilmore" is a tremendous role, powerful, gripping, intense—the terrible suspense of a woman who holds within her heart the knowledge that her husband is guilty of the crime of which he is accused, and who is placed on the wire, ready to be cross-examined by a man whose loyal devotion to herself and her little son, has won her love. By her magnificent interpretation of "Lydia Gilmore," Miss Frederick showed her wonderful versatility, for in it there is no suggestion of her former semi-vampire roles.

As the second feature of this exceptional double program Gail Kane is presented in "The Labyrinth," a stirring tale which has for its base the story of a woman who sacrifices herself for a suffering sister, falls into the clutches of a theatrical manager of the worst class, becomes interested in and marries a million minister in the slums, and between the two sets into a labyrinth of difficulties from which the sister rescues her in a startling, but effective, way.

OPERA VIES WITH BIG COMEDY BILL

Pantages Shows Lively List of Attractions: Film Program Notable.

A wonderful grand opera act, one of the most lavish ever presented in vaudeville, Laura Ordway, the little English comedienne who scored one of the most sensational hits yesterday ever made in the theater, Alice Toddy, the wonderful skating bear, all headliners; "The Robb," a gripping sketch featuring Charles King and Virginia Thornton and a quartet of "Stopped the show" are among the big features at the Pantages this week.

Under the leadership of Michael Salvati, the famous composer of "The Dances of Paris," and one of the best known opera conductors in America today, Mme. Loree's famous singers present grand opera grand opera. They are different from the usual operatic acts—they are the acts in full, carefully explained and offered with that attention to detail that only Salvati can secure. "Traviata," "Faust," "Travolta," "Harmen" and "Lucia" are among the operas presented. Such noted singers as Clara de Santis, Gloria Kirwin and Ramonella Scala are among the big company.

Joseph Ordway's "Red Cross Nurse" is a double worth the price of admission. The big four, a remarkable quartet, Pauline Frederick, the girl with the accordion, Charles King, and Virginia Thornton in "The Robb," and another episode in "The Girl in the Game" are among the extra features.

FRANKLIN

The second week of the Triangle plays at the Franklin opened yesterday with a D. W. Griffith production adapted from the Gilbert Parker novel "Jordan Is a Hard Road," featuring Dorothy Gish and Frank Campbell, and a "Triangle-Keystone" comedy entitled "Fatty and the Broadway Stars," with Roscoe Arbuckle, William Collier, Weber and Fields and practically the entire Keystone aggregation as a supporting cast. In "Jordan Is a Hard Road," Griffith has developed some really excellent situations from the novel story which pictures the redemption of Bill Menden (Mr. Campbell), a notorious highwayman whose later life is a comedy. The story pictures the redemption of his daughter (Dorothy Gish), who has been reared in total ignorance of her parentage. The story breathes the great nobility and its pictures show the redemption of law protectors, with some fine scenery added to naturalize the action. The pictures are handled with every detail attempted.

In "Fatty and the Broadway Stars" the audience is given a "deep behind the scenes" look at the life of the famous comedian shown in the actual making, with camera men turning the crank and other activities attending the filming of a picture.

MANILA RAILROAD Purchase Is Urged

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 10.—Governor General Harrison has recommended that the legislature enact an act for the purchase of the Manila railroad, capitalized at $5,000,000 pesos, with immediate payment of 4,000,000 pesos now available in the insular treasury and the balance in eighteen months.

The government already has financed the construction of the road to the extent of six million pesos. The war has prevented the English company in charge of the construction from obtaining funds for completing the work and the governor-general says that government ownership is necessary for the protection of the government's investment. Early ratification of his recommendation is expected.

Coal Famine Near in Canada Cities

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Jan. 10.—The colony, and the city of St. John's, in particular, are in a coal famine. With rigid tempering prevailing, stores have been depleted until little more than a fortnight's supply of fuel remains. No further shipments are in immediate prospect, and sales have been reduced to half-ton lots at high prices. The condition is a direct result of the war. The Russian government purchased the steel sailing steamers that had been employed for freight carrying coal during the winter months, and other smaller coal carriers were requisitioned by the British admiralty.

Moratorium for Banks in Mexico

QUERETARO, Mexico, Jan. 10.—To protect the banks of Mexico from runs on their specie deposits, First Chief Carranza plans to declare a moratorium throughout the republic. Acting Secretary of the Treasury Nieto said yesterday it would probably be for one, two or three years.

He said the final details would be worked out at a conference this week between Carranza, Luis Cabrera and himself.

SYMPHONY WINS LASTING PLACE

Great Crowd Attests the Need
Supplied by San Francisco Concert.

San Francisco is coming into its musical heritage. Yesterday the Court Theater was packed for the second of the San Francisco symphony concerts. This does not mean merely that all the seats were filled, but that people were standing in large numbers. The audience was not there for social reasons, but to listen to good music. The gathering was made up of "just folks." It was both democratic and cosmopolitan.

The first Sunday concert did not draw such a crowd, although it had been well advertised. The second concert had that great advertising made possible by the spoken word of the people who enjoyed the first.

The program was wisely chosen. It contained two anthems new to local music lovers, and the well known "Scherzando" suite by Rimsky-Korsakov. The Paul Dukas number, "The Peri" is a thing of fairy lightnings in intricate play across a clouded sky. Oriental in its color, its strains are borne along upon an unending current of polyphony in which each instrument speaks and is silent, whispers, shouts, or joins in the ensemble. It is a thing woven finely of light and color. A literary musician has called it "an Emersonian Peri dancing transcendently."

Here came the second group of British Folk-Music Settings with evident enjoyment on his part, as well as on that of the orchestra and the audience. The arrangement is by Grainger, and offers a remarkable amalgam of primitive wildness and dash, with the sophistications of modern orchestration. The two typically English numbers are Shakespearean in atmosphere. The Irish settings are belished by the audience.

The third pair of concerts will be given Friday and Sunday afternoons, the program including Mozart, Beethoven and Strauss.

Actors Battle Snow for Safety

Party Nearly Perishes in Bear Valley

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 10.—Nearly frozen in the battle with snow and a freezing hurricane, fifteen moving picture actors and the Pine Knot Hotel employees reached Motorville, rescued from the snowbound region of Bear Valley, where they had been marooned for many days and short of food.

All the members of the party are safe, but suffering from cold. When Henry Shaw and the rescue party reached Cactus Flat Friday morning, the appointed place of the meeting with the marooned party that was to come out of Bear Valley on snowshoes and sleds, only three men were there with one dog team. The others decided not to risk the trip. In the belief that with aid of snowshoes the three automobile crews could battle their way into Bear Valley.

This was finally accomplished, the Alaskan dogs aiding in breaking the road. The party halted a mile from the Pine Knot. This morning the start was made out of the mountain wilderness over which a hurricane was sweeping. The night before Victoria was finally reached and there the party hurried to hotels to thaw out. Shaw, who has been plotting cars in the mountains for years, says it was the most thrilling of his experiences.

Sunday School Work Will Be Standardized

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 10.—Unification and a general standardization of Sunday-school work in Oregon, Washington, California and British Columbia was the declared aim of the Pacific Coast Sunday-school Association, which organization was completed here yesterday by the general secretaries of the various Sunday-school Associations of the Pacific Coast States and the Northern Province. More than 6500 Sunday-schools were represented.

Officers were elected as follows: President, C. R. Fisher of San Francisco, General Secretary for Northern California; secretary, W. C. Moore of Seattle, General Secretary for Western Washington. The next annual meeting was set to be held at Seattle in January, 1917.

Comes as Pastor of Brooklyn Church

Rev. Howard I. Kerr, late professor of Biblical study in Park College, Parkville, Mo., is to be an Oakland pastor. He is to take the place recently vacated by Rev. H. K. Sanborn as pastor of the Brooklyn Presbyterian church and will assume his new duties on February 6.

Announcement of the choice of the new pastor was made yesterday at the church services by Dr. Robert T. Sutherland, chairman of the committee on the selection of a new pastor.

Dr. Kerr is known in the east as a forceful speaker, and for some time past has been a teacher in the Missouri College, Dr. Sanborn, whom he replaces, had been pastor for ten years in the Oakland church.

MINING CAMPS GONE.

NEVADA CITY, Jan. 10.—Twelve precincts in the county have been consolidated into six, eliminating the famous camps of early days of the gold excitement. The population has declined to such an extent that it does not pay to maintain a voting place. Birchville and French Creek have been merged at French Creek, Mooney Flat and Anthony House, at the latter; North Birchfield and Reber Hill, at the former; You Bet and Lowell Hill, at Lowell Hill.

DEER KILLS KEEPER.

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 10.—William L. Wallace, keeper of the city parks here, was attacked and killed yesterday by a deer belonging to the city herd. It is believed that he was attacked as he opened the gate of a deer pasture to feed the animals. Tracks in the mud showed a desperate encounter had taken place. In which Wallace was finally forced down an embankment some 20 feet to a point where his body was found.

SONG WRITER DIES.

Coal Famine Near in Canada Cities

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Jan. 10.—The colony, and the city of St. John's, in particular, are in a coal famine. With rigid tempering prevailing, stores have been depleted until little more than a fortnight's supply of fuel remains. No further shipments are in immediate prospect, and sales have been reduced to half-ton lots at high prices. The condition is a direct result of the war. The Russian government purchased the steel sailing steamers that had been employed for freight carrying coal during the winter months, and other smaller coal carriers were requisitioned by the British admiralty.

Moratorium for Banks in Mexico

QUERETARO, Mexico, Jan. 10.—To protect the banks of Mexico from runs on their specie deposits, First Chief Carranza plans to declare a moratorium throughout the republic. Acting Secretary of the Treasury Nieto said yesterday it would probably be for one, two or three years.

He said the final details would be worked out at a conference this week between Carranza, Luis Cabrera and himself.

HER SON SUBJECT TO CROUP.

"My son Edwin is subject to croup," writes Mrs. O. O. Irwin, New Kensington, Pa. "I put in many sleepless hours at night before I learned of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mothers need not fear this disease if they keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house and use it as directed. It always gave my boy relief." For sale by Osgood Bros. Sunday School Work Will Be Standardized

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 10.—Unification and a general standardization of Sunday-school work in Oregon, Washington, California and British Columbia was the declared aim of the Pacific Coast Sunday-school Association, which organization was completed here yesterday by the general secretaries of the various Sunday-school Associations of the Pacific Coast States and the Northern Province. More than 6500 Sunday-schools were represented.

Officers were elected as follows: President, C. R. Fisher of San Francisco, General Secretary for Northern California; secretary, W. C. Moore of Seattle, General Secretary for Western Washington. The next annual meeting was set to be held at Seattle in January, 1917.

Comes as Pastor of Brooklyn Church

Rev. Howard I. Kerr, late professor of Biblical study in Park College, Parkville, Mo., is to be an Oakland pastor. He is to take the place recently vacated by Rev. H. K. Sanborn as pastor of the Brooklyn Presbyterian church and will assume his new duties on February 6.

Announcement of the choice of the new pastor was made yesterday at the church services by Dr. Robert T. Sutherland, chairman of the committee on the selection of a new pastor.

Dr. Kerr is known in the east as a forceful speaker, and for some time past has been a teacher in the Missouri College, Dr. Sanborn, whom he replaces, had been pastor for ten years in the Oakland church.

MINING CAMPS GONE.

NEVADA CITY, Jan. 10.—Twelve precincts in the county have been consolidated into six, eliminating the famous camps of early days of the gold excitement. The population has declined to such an extent that it does not pay to maintain a voting place. Birchville and French Creek have been merged at French Creek, Mooney Flat and Anthony House, at the latter; North Birchfield and Reber Hill, at the former; You Bet and Lowell Hill, at Lowell Hill.

DEER KILLS KEEPER.

EUGENE, Ore., Jan. 10.—William L. Wallace, keeper of the city parks here, was attacked and killed yesterday by a deer belonging to the city herd. It is believed that he was attacked as he opened the gate of a deer pasture to feed the animals. Tracks in the mud showed a desperate encounter had taken place. In which Wallace was finally forced down an embankment some 20 feet to a point where his body was found.

SONG WRITER DIES.

SERVICE SHEET FOR DR. HILGARD

Faculty Members Attend the Funeral at St. Joseph's Church.

BERKELEY, Jan. 10.—Funeral services for Professor Eugene Woldemar Hilgard, professor emeritus of agriculture of the University of California, were conducted this morning at St. Joseph's church, at 11 o'clock. The services, which included the saying of the mass, were largely attended, especially by officers and instructors of the university.

Rev. Father Felix X. Morrison, pastor of the church, conducted the funeral. The Faculty Club and other organizations and many individuals contributed to the wealth of floral offerings that were banded about the bier of the departed professor. The interment, which was at St. Mary's cemetery, was privately conducted.

Later in the semester at the university memorial exercises for Professor Hilgard are to be held, and the date and program thereof will be announced within a few days. The memorial exercises will be held at the university, and will be presided over by Dean Thomas Foran, president of the department of agriculture and his predecessor, Professor Hilgard's successor, Dr. Edward J. Wickson, youngest of Professor Hilgard's sons.

Until the time of his retirement from any active work, the publication of the Faculty Club, in 1910, Professor Hilgard was considered among the foremost authorities on agricultural subjects in the world. His specialty was agronomy, but he had investigated deeply into other problems of the land and its products. He died three days after his 53rd birthday, which he celebrated quietly last Wednesday.

Professor Hilgard is survived by two daughters, Miss Jane Hilgard and Miss Alice R. Hilgard. His wife, who was born in Italy, and who was the daughter of a prominent family, died recently their only son, Edward M. Hilgard, also died.

Want U. S. to Own War Supply Plants

BERKELEY, Jan. 10.—The Berkeley branch of the Women's Peace Union met this afternoon at the school board rooms to receive reports on the number of signatures received to a petition which members have been circulating and to consider further means for spreading the peace doctrine in this section. A statement was made by the speaker, Mrs. J. H. Hill, that the petition, which is for the purpose of securing the government to own and operate all plants used in the manufacture of all munitions of war and army and naval supplies, is being circulated in the city and in the county. The speaker said that the petition is being circulated in the city and in the county. The speaker said that the petition is being circulated in the city and in the county.

Police Are Called to Quell a Cook

ALAMEDA, Jan. 10.—Dispute over wages caused the police to be summoned yesterday afternoon to the home of Mrs. Thomas Hill, 1125 Broadway, Alameda. A Chinese cook, living at the home of Mrs. Hill, was refused the wages he demanded. Mrs. E. Hill, who lives in the home, was called to the scene and it is claimed, she engaged the Chinese four days. His work was not satisfactory, she says, and she discharged him. A dispute followed as to the wages he was entitled to and he threatened to shoot Mrs. Hill. The police were called and the Chinese was taken to the station.

Schiffmann's New Bronchial Remedy

For Bronchial Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Coughs.

Osmond Brothers are willing to lose the profit which would be made on a bottle of Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectant, and announce that they will sell a regular 50c bottle of this remedy for 25c (half price) to persons presenting the coupon below, but only for the first bottle to each person.

Although a remedy for Bronchial Affections, and Coughs or Colds might not have yet been required so far this season, it is more than likely that some member of the family will need some before it is over, and it will pay to take advantage of this opportunity now and buy a bottle at half price, instead of putting off until later, and paying full price.

While losing money, they have decided to give the public an opportunity of trying this most excellent, successful, remedy at no greater price than they would have to pay for almost any ordinary cough remedy, and are positively certain that it will be found the best medicine ever used for Coughs, Colds, Bronchial Asthma, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup and Hoarseness.

Besides having a chance of securing

Twenty-five Cent Coupon—No. 4.

This coupon and 25c is good for one (only) 50c bottle of Schiffmann's New Concentrated Expectant at Osmond Brothers, if your name and address is filled in.

PEACE AND THE BOYCOTT.

The National Chamber of Commerce of the United States has just held a referendum vote on a palpably debatable question. Two hundred and eighty-two commercial organizations, chambers of commerce and boards of trade located in forty states, the District of Columbia and Hawaii filed ballots, each organization being entitled to from one to ten votes, according to the size of its membership. This is the proposition:

It is recommended that the United States should take the initiative in joining with other nations in agreeing to bring concerted economic pressure to bear upon any nation or nations which resort to military measures without submitting their differences to an international court or a council of conciliation, and awaiting the recommendation of the court or council as circumstances make them more appropriate.

The vote was 556 in favor and 157 against the proposition. It being approved by more than two-thirds the chambers voting, the national chamber is now pledged to its support and will recommend appropriate action to make the idea effective to Congress and the President. The judgment of such proceedings is so much in doubt that the vote causes not a little surprise.

It is simply the proposal to use the trade boycott as a club to coerce nations against taking up arms. It is specially championed by Mr. Edward A. Filene of Boston, who recently made a lecturing tour of the country to explain the proposition to the general public. It may be, therefore, that the large favorable vote of the commercial organizations is the result of propaganda rather than calm, individual, consideration on the part of each member. At any rate, it does not seem that sufficient attention has been given to the practicability of the idea. It has always seemed to us that armed warfare is only a phase, an exaggerated phase it is true, of commercial competition between nations and races. War seeks justification on "national existence and welfare," which means in the final analysis the welfare of the individual. Such interests are bound up in a nation's commercial life. The present war finds root in commercial and trade competition. A commercial boycott of a nation, it follows, would be, if effective, a very serious matter, and it naturally would be resisted by the boycotted nation.

The boycott would be less destructive of life and property than actual armed conflict, but is there room for a variation between so-called peaceful commercial warfare and the warfare of submarines and high explosives? Personally we do not think so. We do not think that a pact between nations to exert commercial pressure upon an offending nation would contribute notably to the preservation of peace, because acts so based are too liable to be unwise, erroneous and calculated to work injustice. When we recall that in the latter days of July, 1914, five of the greatest civilized nations took up arms simultaneously, that there was no power on earth adequate to halt their belligerency for a day, the proposition to settle all differences between nations by councils of conciliation seems destined to a pitiable failure. However, we do not wish unreservedly to condemn the action of the National Chamber of Commerce; we would merely point out that sound judgment, careful consideration and thorough study of this question were lacking; that it may have been influenced by the preaching of an individual. Such action will tend to lessen the influence the commercial organizations promise to exert through concerted action.

HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS.

The National Rivers and Harbors Congress, in its twelfth annual convention last month, adopted a "declaration of principles" which may be approved by the people generally and adopted by the Congress at Washington as outlining a just and equitable procedure. Oakland's project for the improvement of her harbor facilities would be ranged with the meritorious plans requiring immediate aid from the national government.

In the first place, the convention recommended that a system be devised applicable to the whole country, by which the most important projects, from the standpoint of commerce, be selected, so as to fit into an harmonious and comprehensive system, and that such projects be considered and adopted as a whole, and completed at the earliest practicable date.

It is also declared that water terminals are essential to the healthy development of water-borne traffic, whether such traffic is carried exclusively by water, or jointly by water and rail, to destination. And that such terminals should be provided with modern appliances for the transfer of freight with expedition and at a minimum of cost between the water carrier and the warehouse or railroad.

Oakland should give particular attention to this recommendation: "Such terminals should be constructed at the expense and operated exclusively by the municipality; the best line should be owned or controlled by the municipality; we believe the time has arrived when appropriations for harbors and interior waterways should be predicated and conditioned upon local co-operation in the construction of adequate terminals."

But the "declaration" of deepest local interest is that all harbor improvements should be based upon the Corps of Engineers of the army as the accredited authority in this respect. This covers the case of Oakland, for the improvements proposed for this harbor have been surveyed and recommended by the board of engineers.

The Congress in recent years has adopted the policy of making annual appropriations for projects approved by the army engineers and it has proved an efficient and satisfactory plan. It separates worthy from the unworthy, subjecting all projects to expert investigation. Such a system will in time remove all occasion for criticism and the much overworked cry of "pork." Oakland is in the worthy and deserving class.

THE MARE ISLAND NAVY YARD.

The report of Admiral Stanford to the effect that, in his opinion, the Mare Island navy yard will not be accessible to warships of the super-dreadnaught type, should be accepted with considerable reservation. We should also refrain from agreeing too readily with the persons of Vallejo and Mare Island who charge that Admiral Stanford entertains a personal prejudice against the navy yard.

Perhaps a mistake in judgment has been committed. Secretary of the Navy Daniels, it will be recalled, stated to a representative of THE TRIBUNE a short while ago that the dredging in the Carquinez and Mare Island straits had been more effective than contemplated in the plans for deepening this channel and that he was confident there would be no difficulty in making the navy yard available for the largest battleships afloat or in course of construction, or yet to be laid down.

There is no doubt that dredging work in front of the entrance to Mare Island strait will have to be kept up persistently so long as the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers deposit their silt through Suisun bay, if a thirty-five or forty-foot channel is to be maintained. But it can be carried out at a not extravagant expense—the naval authorities estimate it will cost about $50,000 a year.

It may be desirable to establish in time another naval base in San Francisco bay, as Admiral Stanford advises, but this question may be approached without reference to the matter of Mare Island being adequate to construct the dreadnaught 44, the contract for which has just been awarded it.

James Eads How, millionaire hobo and head of the "migratory unemployed," has launched upon a doubtful adventure. He is going to found a hobo's university, where the wanderers will have to study, and who does not know that study is more distasteful than work to the men whose association with work is permanently severed on account of temperamental disability? The curriculum of How's college will include medicine, economics and jurisprudence for a starter. Medicine is to be taught to keep the hoboes in good health, economics is to enable them to understand why they can't get a job and jurisprudence is to keep them out of the clutches of the law. Later on theology will be added to show them how to die happy. On second thought we must admit there is an element of success in How's scheme. It points the way to advantages the hoboes ardently desire. If the study of jurisprudence results in a way of beating the vagrancy law the college will prosper.

The World Peace Foundation has just issued a pamphlet written by Prof. Charles H. Levermore strongly condemning military training in the public schools. This foundation was established with an endowment of one million dollars by Edward Ginn, the school book publisher. We believe limited military instruction in the public schools is desirable and to be soundly urged as a valuable and necessary provision for our national security. There is no intention to deny that the question may be debatable, but should subsequent events prove our view to be correct the man who amassed a fortune from selling school necessities and then diverted a part of it to impairing the national strength, which the public schools are designed to increase, will be held accountable for a very serious offense. It may turn out that these privately-endowed institutions that devote their efforts to spreading propaganda among the people will, through mistaken judgment and policies, become objects of popular opprobrium.

NOTES and COMMENT

Sprouts of the S. P. says business is flourishing. Just back from the East, where the point of view for such things is best.

A high school boy in San Francisco is injured by hazards. At the bottom of this sort of thing is the eternal desire of boys to do things that college men do, which read so fine in the papers.

Scientific item: "If you varnish an egg so that no air can get through the shell it will die, and no chicken can come out of it." That should not worry the person who expects to eat it.

The Seals are to swim up for the season at San Jose. They profess to have been unable to stand the society of the Oaks at Boyes Springs. They did not take into account what the oaks would have to stand.

Cyril Slapnicka is a pitcher for the Milwaukee team. He won eight and lost eight and got the bonus of $200, though he had to sue for it. The team do not elaborate on his name. They just say "Slap."

"Russians threatening to surround Pinsk." In the absence of supplementary information as to whether they carried their threat into execution it may be said there is a missing link.

We read of a hospital for canines in the war zone and hope they were established from the superfluous provision for humans. It would seem that the suffering of human beings should first have all that could be accorded before "war dogs" came in.

Anybody can have the machinery placed at the exposition grounds who will take it away. One contractor has agreed to take it if they will add $15,000 to the gift. And this is the best offer the exposition authorities have received.

Miss Margaret Waddell of Los Angeles admits that she is a descendant of Sir Walter Raleigh and wants $50,000 from a New Mexico man for breach of promise. The claim of aristocratic lineage is not particularly relevant, but it gets told in the story.

The registering in San Francisco is something of a political straw. Two declare themselves as Republicans to one as Democrat. The ratio of Republicans to Progressives is as 4 to 1. The Socialists show a tremendous falling off and the Prohibitionists are all but extinct.

It is said that had not William Waldorf Astor been defeated for Congress in 1881 when he ran from a New York district that his Anglo-mania would have been less virulent and he would probably have lost a barony. Evidently Congress had a narrow escape. Few Americans will covet Astor's new honors.

Ex-President Taft is a grandfather and godfather all at once. William Howard Taft III was in evidence six months ago, when the title of grandfather was conferred, and was baptized Friday, when the grandfather acted as godfather. The famous smile must be considerably broadened by this experience.

The defective acoustics in the San Francisco Auditorium persist and $547 is desired to provide a sounding board. The Musical Association won't give concerts therein unless the device is installed. A prior attempt to cure the defect, involving an expenditure of some $14,000—how did that come out?

MEN OF ALL OTHERS.

Mr. George E. Miller, Washington correspondent of the Detroit News and faithful photographer of Colonel Roosevelt, adds a new name to the collection of Republican candidates for President whom the Colonel would support with all his heart and soul. Mr. Miller's first list contained the names of Mr. Justice Hughes, Mr. Hadley of Missouri, Mr. P. C. Knox of Pennsylvania. The first has refused to run, nobody wants the other two to run.

The new man is, of course, on the hopeless roll, or the Colonel wouldn't select him. It is good old sturdy, pug-nacious, multibellied Hiram Johnson, governor and long boss of California. "I think," writes Mr. Miller, with a delicious gravity, "the Colonel holds the belief that the Republican leaders could be induced to accept Johnson, but I am sure that from every point he regards the California governor as the man of all others whom this country ought to support." Making four men of all others whom the Colonel ought to support, whom the country ought to support, whom, alas! it won't get the chance to support. And there are others of all others on the Colonel's waiting list.—New York Times.

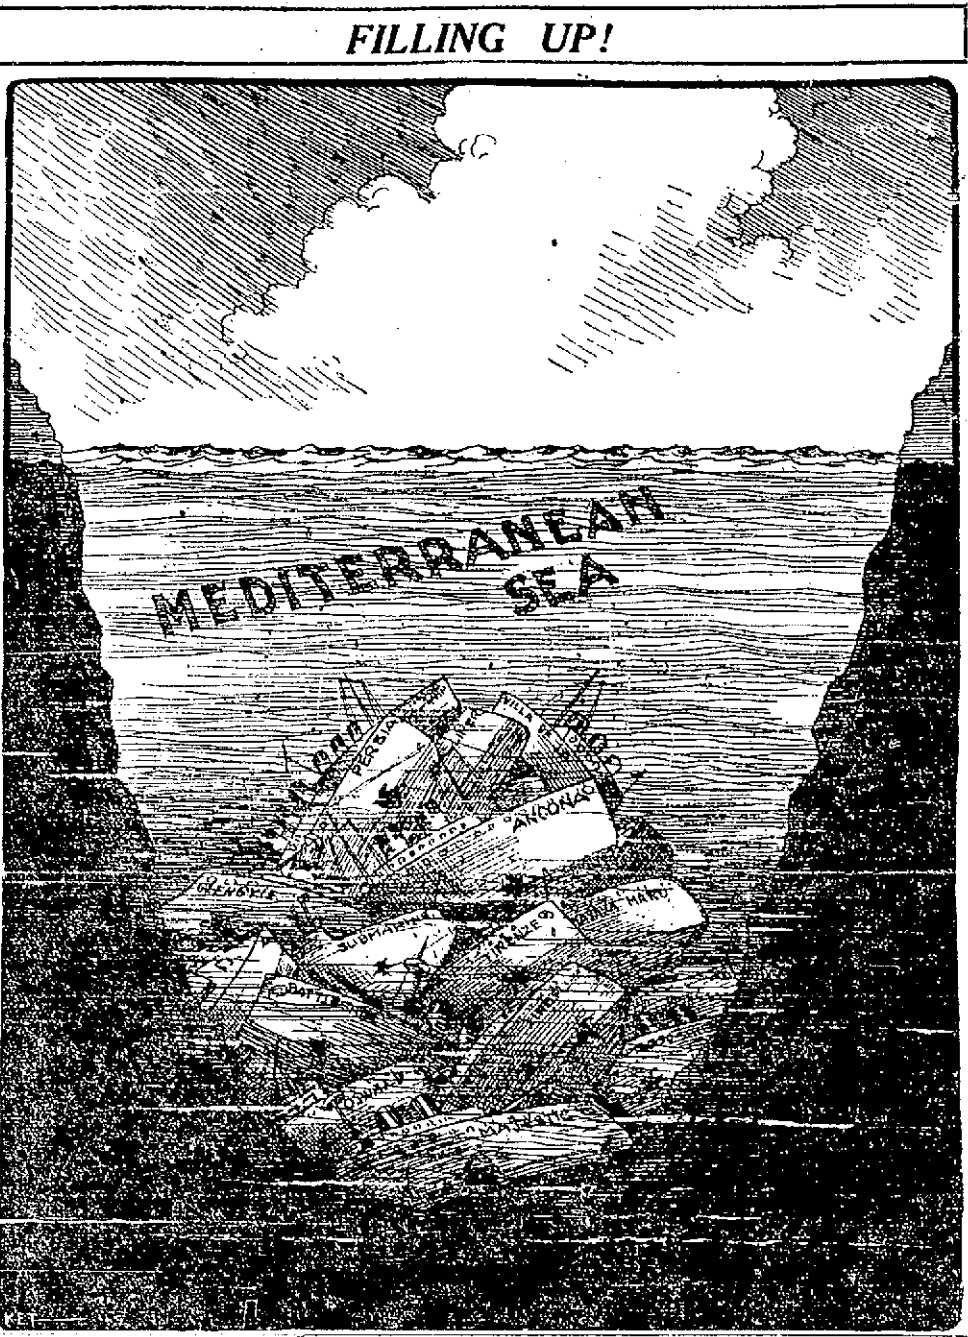

UNCLE SAM'S STOCKING.

Out of 20,000 depositors in the United States postal savings banks having considerable deposits to their credit, 22,000 are foreign-born. This fact has great significance. It shows that the postal banks are drawing out the hoards kept concealed in stockpiles or hid away in inaccessible places for safeguarding.

The majority of American-born citizens do not profit greatly by the postal banks. Most of us are satisfied with our present banking arrangements—when we have anything to bank—and hardly feel the need or the especial benefit of governmental banking. It is altogether otherwise with the foreigner who has recently come to our shores and who does not speak English. He has been victimized so often by banks run by his fellow-countrymen that he has come to have a distrust of all banks conducted by lay private agencies. The only bank he has confidence in is the government bank, and for him the new institution is a real benefit and boon.—Richmond Times.

GIRLS PREPARING.

Rudolph having declared for preparedness, Vassar College (not officially) outdoes it by petitioning the President of the United States for a severance of diplomatic relations with Germany and Austria. Sage College, Barnard, Mount Holyoke, Smith, Wellesley and Bryn Mawr are yet to be heard from. Are the girls drilling on the campus?—New York Sun.

GROWING USE OF GASOLINE

Gasoline has almost doubled in price since last summer and the refiners are being blamed and abused accordingly. But some statistics gathered by the government indicate that the "oil octopus" is not wholly to blame. For example: In 1912 approximately 212,000 motor cars were built in this country. A year later the builders turned out 429,000. In 1914 the number was 515,000 and for the year which closed last June 710,000 were made, the grand total of motor cars then in use in this country being estimated at 3,141,000. In 1899 there were used in this country 5,615,000 barrels of gasoline. Two years later, in 1901, the amount had almost doubled, reaching 10,495,000. Five years later, in 1914, there was used 18 million barrels and the refiners estimate that 20 million barrels of gasoline will be used in this country next year. Not all of it will be used in motor cars by any means. There has been a corresponding increase in motor boats, in farm tractors and in other kinds of engines that use gasoline. The refiners say they have not been able to keep pace with the demand. The government intimates the same thing and the experts in its bureau of mines are at work all the time trying to find some way to simplify yet more the process of refining, and how to get more gasoline from crude oil than can be taken out now. Exhaustive experiments are also being carried on in the production of denatured alcohol. Experts believe the time is coming soon when it will be a rival of gasoline, and will keep the price down.—Kansas City Star.

WISE, BUT RATHER HUMILIATING

In deciding to legalize the sale of horse-flesh for food in this city, the board of health has exercised its power in a way concerning which no reasonable complaint can be made. The meat that will thus be brought to market is, or at any rate may be, as wholesome as any hitherto found in the butcher shops. For that matter, it is, or may be, a better and safer food than not a little of the kinds more familiar. It will never be a favorite with epicures, and consumers in even comfortable circumstances will long avoid it. If not, however, as coarse in texture and tough in fibre, compared with beef and mutton. Still, it is all right, and not only will economists commend our belated following of an example set long ago in Europe, but the tender-hearted will rejoice that hereafter there will be less temptation to get out of old horses the last possible profit in the shape of work. They can now be retired before from active service and prepared for a death much kinder than is the one now their too common lot. After admitting all this, however, it is not exactly pleasing—it is distinctly displeasing—to see that we have been brought at last by something like necessity to treat as edible an animal so long held by us not to be in that category. Most of us recoil from the idea of eating horse even more than we would from the actual consumption. Doubtless we shall become accustomed to it in time, just as we have to the eating of sweetbreads, a luxury which not many years ago was rejected by most Americans with something very much like disgust. If horse meat were expensive, instead of cheap, we should probably become reconciled to it more quickly and happily.—New York Times.

THE JESTER

Then He Shut Up. Mr. Cross—Humph! Changed your ideas about suffrage, haven't you? Five years ago, before we were married, you were all for giving women the vote; but now, when the Colonel asks to support, whom the country ought to support, whom, alas! it won't get the chance to support. And there are others of all others on the Colonel's waiting list.—New York Times.

THE WALL INVISIBLE.

Gone are all the cherished flowers, My garden looks: Very bare and very bleak. The fragrant nooks, Sudden leaves and barren stalks; Line each side the narrow walks; Very bleak my garden looks. Very gay and very sweet My greenhouse looks: Film of foam and Spring's array, Outside, deep snow. Just one sheet of fragile glass Jack Frost's fingers cannot pass; Very gay my greenhouse looks. Oh, how wide the difference Each mortal knows: Withered hopes and empty eyes, Or joy's sweet rose. When Love's will betrays, Shuts out all this and world's chill, Summer, in the heart of Winter, glows. Ethel H. Wolff in New York Times.

DRAMATIS PERSONAE.

Gabor Deslys to play Juliet next season? If the job has not been promised we suggest William J. Bryan for the part of Mercutio. When the play is on the Montagues and Capulets will have adjoined in St. Louis and Chicago without declaring for peace or prohibition. Suffering from such wounds, how well Colonel Bryan will speak the words, "A Plague o' both your houses!"—New York Sun.

HOW ABOUT EZEKIEL?

President Wilson rather boastfully admits that he doesn't read a word of what Colonel Roosevelt reads or writes. All that can be said about it is that the head of the United States Government is missing a lot of typically American sentiment—vigorously, patriotically, characteristically and rather cleverly expressed.—Wichita Beacon.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The Pacific Athletic Association held a meeting last night, and as a result the Acme Athletic Club and the Stanford Athletic Club were suspended from that body. C. Weller transferred 32,750 gallons of wine to the California Wine Makers' Corporation today. Rev. Charles Martyn, a member of the Chicago Civic Federation, spoke on "American Citizenship" to a large audience in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last night. The mass meeting on the Armenian question in the First Congregational Church on next Monday evening promises to be one of the most enthusiastic ever held in this city. Mayor Davis will preside, and ex-Mayor Pardoe, J. W. Evans, Judge Nye, Rabbi Friedlander, Dr. Coyne, Dr. Murphy, Father McSweney, Rev. Hubbard and Dr. McLean will be the speakers. Oakland is to have a harbor of Native Daughters of the Golden West. This fact was established at one of the most remarkable assemblies of native Californians in this vicinity ever held in Oakland, which took place at the installation of the officers of Piedmont Parlor at Loring Hall last night. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Taft gave a pleasant card party to their niece last evening at their residence on Harrison street. PERSONALITIES. Loren Edward Hunt, assistant city engineer of San Francisco for the last eight years, died early yesterday at his home. Brand Whitlock, American minister to Belgium, has arrived at The Hague, where he is visiting Dr. Henry Van Dyke, the American minister. Carl A. Hansmann, formerly attached to the United States consular service, serving in Germany, France, Belgium and the West Indies, died yesterday. Rev. William Barnes, oldest minister in North Carolina and believed to be the oldest minister in the United States, is dead at Asheville at the age of 103 years and 3 months. Mrs. Elizabeth Barada, one of the last of the older members of the Iowa tribe of Indians, is dead on the Iowa reservation near White Cloud. Mrs. John H. Reagan, widow of the United States Senator from Texas, died at her home in Texas yesterday after an extended illness. THROWING THE TURKEY. We have conceived a low opinion of Andrew Tice of Middletown, N. Y., and his dog. Just listen to this: "Andrew Tice of this city has been taken to Goshen jail to serve fifteen days, because Tice, becoming angry at his wife, took the turkey she had ready for dinner and fed it to the dog. "This deprived his wife and three small children of their meal, and the wife immediately caused his arrest." If we had been the judge we would have sentenced the dog to the same cell for the same period. No, on second thoughts we wouldn't, because Andrew would be sure to "take it out on the dog." If we were sure that the dog would take it out on Andrew we would adhere to the first proposition. Nice fellow, Andrew, isn't he? A sweet one! Our spleen rises at the thought of Andrew and we would vent it on him except that we do not wish to be at all like him. Has it occurred to you that a great many people are more or less like Andrew, punishing others for their own meanness? Everybody with a bad disposition makes the innocent suffer for the privilege of associating with him. Let us all sit down outside Andrew's cell and contemplate him and meditate on our own meanness and resolve to refrain as far as possible from throwing our own turkey to the dog.—Chicago Tribune.

LITTLE BROTHERS' FUND.

Columbia Club 2.50
Total $23.31

Eleven copper pennies represented the contribution to the Good Fellow fund of a 7-year-old philanthropist in the Lincoln school. Sewerol patiently in pencil was the following explanatory note:

"Dear Sir:—I am a little boy, 7 years old, and I go to the Lincoln school. My mamma told me about the little children that didn't have any shoes or stockings. So I have saved up 11 cents in my bank, and I thought it would help get some little boy or girl some stockings.

"Yours truly,
"A LITTLE GOOD FELLOW."

One boy, 6 years old, who had been made an orphan only a few months ago, when his mother was killed on Broadway by an automobile, was brought in by a school nurse, and he was fitted with a warm sweater, good stockings, and some woolen underwear. He departed with his chin tilted slightly several degrees upward.

THE SHOES SHE NEEDED.
"My mother told me not to be ashamed to take help from the Good Fellows," explained one little girl. "for they asked us first. I guess if you have any shoes to fit me, I'd be glad for the payments are awful wet and cold, and I lost the sole to one shoe this morning."

Shoes just the right size were found for the little girl whose mother told her it was not begging to take assistance from the Good Fellows. The child, who is now in the Lincoln school, is the daughter of a man who was killed by an automobile. The child is now in the Lincoln school, and she is now in the Lincoln school.

No child gets clothing here without an order from a public school nurse or the school principal. In order to systematize the work, and render efficient service, school principals are urged to refer needy children to the school nurse, who will bring them to the TRIBUNE Wardrobe Department as soon as possible.

Big mothers and fathers must be reminded that it is impossible for us to get too much clothing. There are not enough second-hand shoes in Oakland to care for all the children who need to be better shod this winter. The present stock that the TRIBUNE has on hand will be very speedily exhausted, now that the work of actual distribution has begun. Little undergarments, shoes, overcoats and substantial, warm garments can be used to any quantity.

TAUGHT BY THE PAST.
Explaining that she "had known poverty herself," a Good Fellow wrote in as follows:
"I am only poor myself, but when I read about the little ones who cannot attend school because they have not proper clothing, I looked around and found this little one that was too small for my own son. I have mended it, and hope it will fit some little boy about 12 years old. There is a hand to care for all the children who need to be better shod this winter. The present stock that the TRIBUNE has on hand will be very speedily exhausted, now that the work of actual distribution has begun. Little undergarments, shoes, overcoats and substantial, warm garments can be used to any quantity."

"P. S. I am also sending you a coat suitable for a little girl."

BETSY ROSS OF CHINA MAY PROVE TO BE OAKLAND GIRL

MISS MINNIE WONG, 18-YEAR-OLD CHINESE GIRL, OF OAKLAND, WHO IS MODERN JEANNE D'ARC AS A LEADER IN THE CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS FOR THE REVOLT AGAINST YUAN SHI KAI.

Oakland is the home of a modern Jeanne d'Arc.

While she has not actually taken up arms and gone out at the head of a body of fighting men to oppose the armies of her country's enemies, she is the most active person on this side of the bay in stirring her countrymen to revolt.

This modern warrior maid is Miss Minnie Wong, 18-year-old daughter of Mrs. L. S. Wong, 214 Seventh street. She is an American-born Chinese girl, noted for being far prettier than the majority of the women of her race. She is one of the most ardent of the Young China patriots on this side of the bay who are assisting in raising the funds which will go back to the old country to overthrow the throne so recently ascended by Yuan Shi Kai, the former president.

"China an empire? Never," says the young patriot. "It must not be tolerated. Yuan Shi Kai and his supporters are serpents who have stolen the power vested in them by a nation of trusting people and are using it to further their own selfish political ambitions. The more must be crushed in its infancy. The greatest need with which to meet the issue is money. We in America must meet this want."

The Chinese of Oakland are doing their share toward supplying the sinews of war to their revolutionary brothers in the old country. This pretty Chinese girl has addressed meetings, exhorting her countrymen to generosity, pleading to them to "open their eyes to the truth," and urging them to do all in their power to make the re-establishment of the Chinese empire impossible.

"Is it not unusual," Miss Wong was asked, "for a Chinese woman to be so active in public affairs?"
"Oh, this is truly an age of women," she answered. "Even in China, I am told the women are awakening to their responsibilities. And why shouldn't the women be active? We have the intelligence, the patriotism, the energy, do these things, just as well as the men. If not better than them."

JURY STARTS TO PROBE BLACKMAIL

Garage Permit Cases Are to Be Given a Rigid Investigation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—The grand jury this morning began the formal investigation into the alleged blackmailing conspiracy by which it is claimed garage permits were used as the medium for obtaining money from persons desiring favors at the hands of the Board of Supervisors. The resolution drawn up by the fire committee of the board was read to the jurors and the evidence compiled by Chairman Ralph McLeary, was sketched by Assistant District Attorney Louis Ferrari.

The jurors expressed a desire to conduct a rigid inquiry and a special day was fixed for this purpose. Thus far the exact nature of the evidence in the hands of McLeary has not been made public. Enough, however, was told to the grand jurors today to satisfy them that the names of supervisors had been handed about and the intimidation was given out that bribe money was to be paid to them by the persons who were collecting funds to either prevent or aid the issuance of garage permits.

Three Women Are Drowned in Packet

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 10.—Three bodies were found today floating together in a state of decomposition in the Kanawha which sank in the Ohio river last Wednesday. Two were identified as Mrs. E. C. Atkinson and Mrs. Ulysses Begle of Racine, Ohio. The other, also a woman, was not identified.

WALKS THROUGH WINDOW.
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—Peter Hogan, a mechanic, was talking to a friend in a room at 252 East street and turning to leave walked through a window instead of the door, falling twenty feet into an alley. His right leg was broken at the hip and his right arm fractured. He was taken to the Harbor hospital.

PERJURY CHARGES IN BOND PROBE

Five Are Accused in Indictments; Girl in the Number.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—Five defendants, including one woman, are accused of perjury or subornation of perjury, in indictments voted by the grand jury in connection with the so-called straw bond investigation, presiding Judge George H. Cabaniss, who took his seat this morning, succeeding Judge James T. Hunt, received the grand jurors at 11 o'clock when indictments were formally presented.

Among those against whom the grand jury has drawn up a true bill are Miss Margarette De Gout, who is alleged, under the name of Margaret Williams, swore to the ownership of certain property in the Richmond district and charged on the bond of Lewis Hammond, charged with forgery. Miss De Gout is a stenographer in the employ of George S. Barkley, attorney, already accused of conspiracy. The grand jurors have voted a second indictment against him, charging subornation of perjury. It is alleged he induced Miss De Gout to go on the Hammond bond. Among others against whom the grand jurors voted indictments are Frank Harris and E. G. Smith, both of whom are already defendants before Superior Judge Griffin. The fifth true bill was voted against John W. Cox, charging perjury.

S. P. Conductor Robbed at Sixth and Broadway

W. P. McAvoy, a Southern Pacific conductor whose home is in Tracy, reported to the police that he was held up and robbed last night. McAvoy was met by two men at Sixth street and Broadway at 1:20 a. m. and was ordered to throw up his hands and make no resistance. The bandits were armed. McAvoy obeyed and a severe injury to his right leg, taking his watch, gold chain and gold ring and a small sum in coin. The district was searched by the police when the holdup was reported. No arrests were made.

Louis Francisco, 1579 Seventh street, reported to the police that his home was entered and a watch, revolver and money stolen.

CAUGHT IN ELEVATOR.
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—Gustavo Modesto, foreman for Guggenheim & Company, dried fruit packers at 1301 Sansome street, was caught in an elevator this morning and badly hurt. His back was wrenched and his limbs lacerated. He was treated at the Harbor hospital.

STRUCK BY JETNEY.
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—R. Cohn, of 2300 San Bruno road, was struck by a jetney at Eighth and Market streets this morning and suffered a severe injury to his right leg. The driver, Louis Demers, took him to the Central Emergency hospital.

WEATHER IS SERVED ON MIXED MENU

Bit of Everything Is in Order in the Bay
Cities

Sun, Rain, Hail and Sun
Again All in a Day

Alternate rain, hail and sunshine were on Oakland's weather bill of fare this morning—and it's not all over yet, according to the weather prophets. Early risers were drenched in a heavy rain. A short time later the rain changed to hurrying pellets of hail and the wind drove them along at a snail's pace. An hour or so later and Old Sol was peeping through a rift in the clouds. The rift widened and the solar smile looked down on a drenched Oakland, that looked up, cheerful, and went about its business smiling—but meditatively dubious on what the next hour had in store.

A cold wave is following the storm, according to the cheerful prediction of the weather man. The storm held the Pacific coast in its clutches for several days past, covered the top of Mt. Tamalpais with snow and surprised commuters on the bay today with the novel sight.

The storm center is now over Nevada, according to the weather bureau, and is moving southward.

HEAVY NIGHT RAIN.
Rain fell throughout a large part of last night, although with more force than quantity, as the rain gauges this morning showed. Precipitation was reported throughout California, from Oregon to the Mexican line, the bay region receiving the most. The wind was high, but shipping having been warned, no damage was done.

In the Sacramento valley the storm was heavy and the snowfall in the hills is regarded with anxiety, as it means swollen creeks and a heavy river flow. Dykes are being strengthened and levees prepared for the coming onrush of waters. Light snows were reported at various localities. Five feet fell at Tunnel No. 8, near Glenora, and two feet at No. 9, near Leland. Trains were delayed.

In the Oregon mountains snow four feet deep are reported. Throughout the Sierras snowstorms raged last night.

EXTRA WET YEAR.
The year 1915 was an extra wet year, according to Forecaster Willson, so far as the bay region was concerned.

The temperature for the entire year was 1.3 degrees above the average, while the rainfall was 5.56 inches or 24 per cent above normal. The longest period without precipitation was 110 days, July 5 to October 22, inclusive. The longest period of rain, which lasted twelve days, January 24 to February 4. The highest mean temperature for three consecutive days was 69, which the mercury registered on August 27, 28 and 29. The lowest mean temperature for a similar period was 44 degrees on the last three days of the year.

The rainfall during May, 3.17 inches, was with one exception the heaviest recorded during that month in a period of sixty-six years, which is the length of the record.

MAN KILLED.
Peter Storm, a well-known rancher living near here, was found dead today in the residence district of Watsonville, apparently struck down by a falling branch of a tree splintered during a high wind which accompanied a rain and snowstorm here during the night. Scores of trees were uprooted and minor property damage was done. A foot of snow was reported to have fallen in the hills outside town. A heavy rain fell during the early part of the day.

SEEK GIRLS' ASSAILANT IN OAKLAND

Negroes Who Wounded
Two Thought to Be Here

Police Make Search; One
Is Arrested and Held

The police are searching Oakland today in an effort to locate the two negroes involved in the shooting of Miss Amelia Von Blomberg and Miss Rose Ray in the offices of the Employees' Credit Company, in the Monadnock building, San Francisco. The detectives across the bay yesterday arrested Morris Carter on suspicion, but this morning Miss Von Blomberg failed to identify him and his description does not exactly tally with that of the man who did the shooting.

He is being held on a charge of vagrancy.

Acting on the theory that it was quite possible for the two negroes to have taken a boat for Oakland following the shooting before the police of the ferry bureau were notified, officers have begun a careful inquiry on this side of the bay. Patrolmen have been given a description of the pair and extra efforts are being lent to the search.

At the German hospital in San Francisco, Dr. Hinzmann announced this morning that Miss Blomberg's condition was still critical. He anticipated little change today, but believed that tomorrow would tell the tale as to whether recovery was possible. She is in a grave state and it is feared she may die. Although Miss Ray was not seriously hurt, it was learned today that several nerves in her arm had been effected and she may lose its use.

GIRL SLAIN BY CAR IDENTIFIED

Mystery Surrounds Case and the Coroner Is Investigating.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—Coroner's officials late this afternoon identified the young woman who was killed beneath an Ocean Beach car last night as Mrs. Lillian Marks, a divorcee, and a stenographer living at 803 Cole street. She is the daughter of Martin Walsh of this city.

The police have learned that Mrs. Marks had an appointment for last evening with a young man, as yet unidentified, at the end of the car line at the Ocean Beach. Whether or not she kept the appointment and met the youth has not yet been ascertained. Several detectives have been assigned to the case.

Considerable mystery surrounds the death. The officials are working on the theory that the woman committed suicide by throwing herself beneath the wheels of the speeding car. She is believed to have been the divorced wife of Will J. Marks, a well-known actor of Chicago, as a wrist watch on her person bore his name.

The death occurred at Forty-ninth avenue and Fulton street. It was raining heavily. The subway was dark and Motorman Charles Craig saw no one in the tunnel. The car when the body was struck was the only indication of any thing wrong, and the woman made no outcry. Her limbs were badly mangled, but because she was not hurt. She was instantly killed. She was apparently about 25 to 30 years old, weighed 130 pounds, light complexion, Auburn hair and dressed in a black silk dress trimmed with dark fur. She wore a dark brown coat crossed with green stripes and carried an umbrella. Her top shoes were purchased at the Emporium. A wrist watch bore the monogram "L. J. W." Inside was scratched the name, "Will J. Marks, Chicago, 5-12-12."

FIX NORTHERN RATES.
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—The State Railroad Commission today authorized the Pacific Gas and Electric Company to establish, beginning February 1, the following rates in the district of Chico, Marysville, Napa and Colusa, for gas consumption, $1.50 per thousand for the first 500 feet, $1 per thousand for the second 500 feet, 50 cents per thousand for all over 1000 feet. Minimum monthly charge 50 cents per meter.

Gossip Overheard
at the Orpheum

Well-known Oakland Club Woman Reveals Nouns of Interest.

Mrs. Blank while attending a recent performance at the Orpheum was surprised to observe her neighbor, who was sitting quite far back, apparently enjoying the bill without the attendant discomfort Mrs. Blank had always noticed in her in the past. This discomfort had always characterized her neighbor's theatrical attentances.

Mrs. Blank noticed that there was not the constant changing of eye glasses as heretofore, and that her neighbor was enjoying the performance and at the same time reading the program in her hand with the same pair of glasses.

Later in the evening Mrs. Blank's curiosity overcame her and she found out her neighbor was wearing the new "Caltex" bifocal, which combine reading and distance in one—a single lens doing double service—no changing of glasses, no blurred zone or distortions between the reading and distance portions. Remember the name—"Caltex." Ground only by California Optical Co., 1221 Broadway, Oakland, and 131 Post St. and 2505 Mission St.—Advertisement.

Burglar Hunter Guards Sad Boy

Not Shooting, He Lets
Urchin Slumber

"We've got a robber in our basement. My husband has him covered with a shotgun. Please come quick!" An agitated, tremulous voice gave this message to the police over the telephone. A posse of police was loaded into the automobile, which rushed out into the night and the rain to the home of William Feige, 1429 Ninety-eighth avenue.

They found Feige standing in the doorway of his basement, shotgun in hand.

"He's in there, over in the corner," Feige said in a whisper. "Be careful. He may be armed."

A patrolman sent the beam of his flashlight in the direction indicated. There, on a heap of sacks, the officers could see the slight body of a boy, apparently about 11 years of age. He was sleeping peacefully, and as he lay upon his back, he snored loudly.

The boy protested against being awakened. He said his name was Antoine Simons, and that he had run away from his home, 2847 East Eleventh street, and had taken refuge from the storm in Feige's basement. The boy was taken to the Detention House for the night.

MAN DRIVES ON LIVE WIRE, BUT ESCAPES

Horse Is Killed Instantly, Owner Near to Death

Touching Strand, Gardener Is Hurlled to Ground

Giacomo Cerulli, a Bay Farm Island gardener, narrowly missed death early this morning when the horse which he was driving walked into a high power electric wire which had been snapped off by the high winds and the storm of last night.

The animal dropped dead instantly. Cerulli, puzzled at the incident, ran to assist the horse, his body brushing the wire as he passed in the dark.

He was thrown a distance of several feet by the shock, but fortunately escaped serious injury. T. J. Young, bridge tender at the island, was notified, and the electrical current was turned off until the damaged wire could be repaired. Cerulli was leaving for Oakland with a load of garden truck at the time of the accident.

This was the only damage done by the storm which raged through Alameda last night and this morning. The municipal electric plant reports that everything went through the gale safely. No trouble has been reported by the telephone company.

Throws Chair at Wife; Hurts Child, Is Charge

A chair hurled by Timothy Dunham, a porter, at his wife while both are in jail, resulted in the influence of liquor at his home, 233 Fourth street, struck his three-year-old daughter, Vivian, inflicting a cut over an inch in length, according to the police.

The screams of the child brought neighbors to the Dunham home. It was at first thought the child was fatally hurt. She was taken to the receiving hospital, where several attendances were taken in the cut.

Dunham was placed under arrest, and is being held at the city prison pending an investigation. Mrs. Dunham will be asked to swear to a complaint charging her husband with battery.

Arrest Uses Knife
on S. F. Patrolman

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—Patrolman William G. Zochel while arresting two men for a misdemeanor offense at Waller and Steiner streets this morning, was attacked by one of them who wielded a knife, slashing up his uniform without injuring him. He succeeded in overpowering his assailant and with the aid of citizens handcuffed him. The man gave the name of James Gallagher, a teamster, and was charged with assault with a deadly weapon. The second prisoner Thomas Stewart, took no part in the assault.

JOHN PARROTT BETTER.
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—John Parrott Jr., who has been lying in a serious state from an attack of pneumonia at Red Cross hospital in San Mateo, was reported as improved today. Mrs. Parrott, the mother, who hurried from the East to be with her son, is constantly at his bedside, and from the moment of her arrival the patient showed signs of improvement.

HUERTA NO WORSE.
EL PASO, Jan. 10.—The condition of General Huerta was reported unchanged by his physician today.

Passport Rules Are Made More Stringent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Under the defense of the realm act, no person will be allowed to land or embark at any port in the United Kingdom unless he has a passport issued within two years by the government of the country of which he is a citizen. The information was given today by Sir Cecil Spring Rice, British Ambassador, in announcing to the State Department restrictions to govern the emigration of British subjects of military age from the United Kingdom. Any person who lands or embarks in contravention of the regulations, or any person who, having such permission to land, fails to comply with certain conditions, "shall be deemed guilty of a summary offense" against the rules.

Large Wage Increase
Granted by Steel Firm

JOHNSTON, Pa., Jan. 10.—The Cambria Steel Company has announced a ten per cent increase in wages of all its employees, except those working on salary and tonnage. This increase will affect about 8000 men, and will add $500,000 to the annual pay roll.

"For quite a number of years I have suffered with stomach and kidney trouble. My food would ferment in my stomach, and I was always more or less bloated. I was also chronically constipated, nervous and restless and could not sleep at night. I had doctored and taken a great many remedies for my troubles, but nothing seemed to help me. I had heard that Dr. J. C. Taylor was talking about Plant Juice, and thought I would try a bottle. I can now truthfully state for publication that since taking Plant Juice I have felt like a different person. I can troubles me. It has a decided effect on my kidneys, as I do not have any pains now in my back at all. I am not at all nervous and restless and sleep fine at night. In fact, my general health has greatly improved. I am grateful for my recovery to health and give all due praise to 'Plant Juice.' Plant Juice is sold in all Owl Drug Stores.—Advertisement.
